Washington, June 3 .- The Census Bureau to-day issued a bulletin on the subject of assessed valuation of property in the United States, in 1890. The bulletin shows that the value of all property, except in certain specified States, has increased from $16,902,998,543 in 1880 to $24,651,685,455 in 1880, an increase during the decade of $7,748,591.922, or was a better crop grown, both 45,84 per cent, Should it be found, upon the completion of the inquiry in relation to the true value of all property in the United States, that the same relation exists in 1890, between the assessed valuation and the real valuation as existed in 1880, the absolute wealth of the United States, according to the Eleventh Census, may be estimated at $63, 648,000,000 or more that $1,-000 per capita, against $514 per capita in 1860, $780 per capita in 1870 and $870 per capita in 1880.

Owing, however, to the fact that in some States property is assessed at its full value and in others at only a fraction of its value, comparison of the wealth of the States is quite im. possible. In some States, too, the lists of the kinds of taxable property vary greatly from those in others.

Moore, W P Loyd, Wm Redd, S A Snow, Dan Babb, S F Crider, W D Johnson, Hiram Ford, and S B Perkins. Judge Givens in a general way called the attention of the jury to its duties, reading and explaining the code of practice, touch ing these points. He then called the attention of the twelve men particularly to the law, requiring the doctors and druggist to register, and then to the local option law. He said where the local option law was in existence it should be enforced; it might be a good law or it might be a bad law, but the jury had nothbeen violated, it was the duty of the jury to punish those who had violated it. He classified all cases that are likely to come before the jury, under two heads, one in which the witnesses were eaisly obtained, and readily come before the jury, the other were cases of such a nature as the witness avoided the jury, and frequently evaded the sheriff. He said the idea prevailed that until papers were served, there witnesses were not answerable to the court. but this was erroneous, when a wit- Cook. ness runs from the sheriff to avoid the execution of papers, he was subject to a fine, and would be fined whenever the court could reach TUESDAY.

Mr. Bigham has visited the city before and is well-known to many of the church people of the place. He is a reformed man, who in early life sank deep in sin, but a helping hand rescued and saved him In retracing his steps and to make amends for the days misspent he became a minister and ever since has been an earnest worker in his Master's vineyard, doing his work in a humble and faithful way. Devoid of sensationalism. though at times slightly erratic in his earnestness; a thorough Methodist, yet without the hide-bound sectarianism so damaging in the work of the revivalist; a Mr. Kahn, a prominent lawyer of man from the people, who never talks to them else than thoughtful brother, Mr. Bigham has lead many souls to seek God for salvation, and his crown will be well filled with gems of souls saved.
